This is the first and most comprehensive comparative study on modern sales law in Latin America, Spain and Portugal. It covers the most recent research published by Ibero-American authors and deals with a great number of court decisions and arbitral awards, including the most up-to-date Ibero-American jurisprudence developed by the highest National Courts and ICC Arbitral Tribunals. This work offers the solutions developed by the Ibero-American laws to specific events related to the sales contract and it constitutes a contribution to legal scholarship in sales law. The approach taken should be useful for any law practitioner and researcher looking for a straightforward and well-supported legal answer to any of the topics covered here.

About the Series

Series Editor: Ingeborg Schwenzer

International Commerce and Arbitration is a new book series set up with the aim of establishing a collection of prominent studies in international commercial law and arbitration, aimed at practitioners (e.g. solicitors, in-house counsel, attorneys, arbitrators), in addition to scholars involved in the research and study of international commerce and arbitration.

The series will be a useful source of information for those interested in the latest developments in international commercial law and arbitration. All volumes in the series have been peer reviewed.

Prof. Dr. iur. Ingeborg Schwenzer, LL.M. is Professor of Private Law at the University of Basel, Switzerland; former Dean of the Faculty of Law. .
